

COVID-19 Media Impact Map for Canada
Fact Sheet
Summary of data for March 11, 2020 to August 12, 2022

ABOUT THIS PROJECT

This map tracks the impact of COVID-19 on the media industry in Canada dating back to March 11, 2020, when the World Health Organization declared a global pandemic. For large companies, in many cases it is not clear which divisions, publications or programs have been affected. In these cases, we used the information available to map the changes to the head office location and entered data for specific outlets/divisions where there is known impact. One consequence of this is that the overall number of affected outlets and workers is underrepresented on the map/in the data.

Specific markers represent daily newspapers, community newspapers (those published fewer than five times per week), magazines, television and radio broadcasters, and online news sites. The colour of these markers shows the type of COVID-19 impact on media outlets. Where there is more than one impact, markers display the colour representing the media impact according to this order: closed/temporarily closed, cancelled some/all print editions, cut back news broadcasts/shows, reduced coverage (other), layoffs/job losses, and pay cuts/reduced hours.

Worth noting

The COVID-19 Media Impact Map for Canada tracks the impact of COVID-19 on media outlets in Canada after March 11, 2020, when the World Health Organization declared a global pandemic. The information boxes accompanying map markers are regularly updated to reflect the evolving situation on the ground.

This report, the ninth since we launched the map in the spring of 2020, includes an expanded section with more detail on media organization closures. The report now includes a new table that breaks down the data to show the number of permanent closings and the number of outlets that closed temporarily but subsequently re-opened for each type of media.

The data we assembled on layoffs since March 2020 are available here.

There are now 298 markers on the map representing pandemic-era change throughout the media industry.

Since March 2020:

- 56 outlets have closed permanently (44 community newspapers, five radio stations, four online sites, two television stations and one magazine).
- 16 outlets have reopened after temporarily closing (15 community newspapers and one daily newspaper). Three additional outlets temporarily closed and it is unknown if they will reopen in the future.
- 59 outlets — 35 community papers, 19 daily papers and five magazines — have cancelled some or all print editions. The loss of one or more print editions has become a permanent change for 27 outlets, regular print operations have resumed at 18 outlets, and the status of cancelled print editions at 14 outlets is still unknown.
- 183 outlets have reported layoffs or job losses. Seventeen companies with multiple media holdings also reported layoffs or job losses, but have not provided details about which outlets are affected.
- 3,023 editorial and non-editorial jobs have been cut temporarily or permanently between March 13, 2020 and April 8, 2021. To date, we have confirmed 1,281 permanent job losses. The status of many of the remaining layoffs is unclear. In some cases, employees have been rehired, in other cases it is undetermined whether layoffs are permanent or temporary.

Since the previous map update on November 17, 2021:

- 2 community newspapers cancelled some/all print editions in January 2022: Bugle-Observer and Miramichi Leader.
- 2 daily newspapers cancelled some/all print editions in January 2022: Fredericton Daily Gleaner and Telegraph-Journal.
- 4 new markers were added to the map representing community newspapers that closed/temporarily closed in 2020: Courier Weekend, Hub Now, The Light, and West Carleton Community Voice.
- 1 new marker was added to the map representing a community newspaper that cancelled some/all print editions in 2020: Teviskes Ziburiai.
- 1 new marker was added to the map representing a daily newspaper that cancelled some/all print editions in 2021: Grande Prairie Daily Herald-Tribune.

Overview of map data

The map displays a total of 298 markers (281 media outlets and 17 companies with multiple holdings) representing the impacts of COVID-19 on media in Canada.

Breakdown of map markers by type of media

Total	298

Between March 13, 2020 and April 8, 2021, 3,023 editorial and non-editorial employees were temporarily or permanently laid off by 41 owners. Of those, 1,281 have been confirmed as permanent layoffs. More detailed information about these layoffs is available here.

The number of media outlets affected by COVID-19 is underrepresented on the map/in this data because full details of layoffs, reduced hours, pay cuts and reduced coverage at media outlets owned by companies with multiple media holdings are unknown. Quebecor, for instance, announced the temporary company-wide layoff of 1,150 employees, but we do not have specific information on how those job losses were distributed throughout its divisions and its television, magazine and newspaper holdings in particular. Similarly, companies such as Black Press Media and Glacier Media in western Canada implemented layoffs, pay cuts and reduced hours, but we do not have details on how the cuts affected their individual publications. As information about the COVID-19 impact on individual media outlets becomes available, information on the map is updated.

The tables below provide details of the pandemic's impact on individual news outlets. They do not include the map markers that represent companies with multiple media holdings. See the Companies with multiple media holdings where detailed information is unavailable section for more information on these markers.
